ATTENDANCE POLICY

CRLN is an experiential, cohort-driven program aimed at honing the skills, growing the networks, and expanding the knowledge of its participants. The Attendance Policy outlined here has been designed to ensure the program maximizes learning outcomes, facilitates collaboration and networking among participants, and ensures a cohesive and comprehensive learning experience.

The Opening Leadership Retreat lays the foundation for the program and the cohort's development and is therefore a mandatory component of the program.

We recognize that unanticipated scheduling conflicts can and do arise. Therefore, Coro allows up to a two (2) absences during the remainder of the program. If a participant accrues more than the allowed number of absences, they may be asked to withdraw from the program.

As the sessions are interactive and linked, it's essential for participants to steer clear of external distractions. This means refraining from arriving late or leaving early, using phones, checking emails, or engaging in other activities during the scheduled program times.

Based on past program participant feedback, it is best to consider programming as an extension of your professional responsibilities and to place calendar holds for all program session dates and times and to begin speaking with your employer at the time of applying.

Participants can expect about 10–12 hours of additional time spent outside of scheduled sessions on small team activities and nominal pre- or post-program session assignments.

If any applicant has significant scheduling conflicts for the program dates, they should speak with the Coro team prior to applying to determine if accommodations can be made.

This calendar is subject to change prior to the start of and during the course of the program. Participants will be notified if changes are made.
